HEROES!

Decoration Day Is Observed Grandly.

General Wm. T. Sherman Marches in An Immense Procession at Chicago.

The Day is Observed at Pittsburgh and Elsewhere With Solemnity.

DECORATION DAY.

It Is Observed at Chicago—Gen. Sherman Marching.

CHICAGO, Ills., May 29.—General W. T. Sherman has arrived to take part in the decoration ceremonies at Rose Hill to-day. The general stated that he had decided to remove to New York.

The observance of the ceremony of decorating the graves of soldiers by veteran organizations in this city occurred to-day. The marching column was composed of the posts of the Grand Army of the Republic and was the largest ever seen on the streets of Chicago on a similar occasion. Accompanying Ransom post, of St. Louis, was General William T. Sherman, who marched in the ranks on the right of the leading four. He was quickly recognized by large waiting crowds on the streets and was wildly cheered.

General Alfred H. Terry was also one of the marchers and was cheered along the route. Governor Oglesby, accompanied by several other gentlemen, occupied the only carriage in the columns. The veterans in line numbered four thousand.

AT PITTSBURG.

PITTSBURG, May 29.—To-day was observed as Decoration Day. Business was almost entirely suspended.

SAD FATE.

A Minister and Four Children Drowned.

WOLVERBOROUGH, N. H., May 29.—Yesterday afternoon Rev. T. C. Jerome, pastor of the Congregational church, with his two sons and daughter and a young man named Davis, were drowned on the lake on a fishing excursion.

Labor News.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—The Sugar company will resume next Monday with a full force on a compromise.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 29.—The Black Diamond steel company has voluntarily advanced the wages of all their employees ten per cent.

The Presbyterians.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—The Presbyterian general assembly, last night, voted to continue the permanent committee on temperance, which has been in existence since 1885. The resignation of chairman W. T. Brown was accepted.

The Maxwell Case.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—The defence in the Maxwell murder case read depositions taken in England, showing the defendant's good character.

The Fire Record.

MCGREGOR, Texas, May 29.—Thursday night a fire destroyed twenty business houses. Total loss $58,000; insurance, $18,000.

THE DEATHS.

The List This Week is Given Complete.

These deaths occurred this week in the city:

Sarah Mayhew, aged 50 years, consumption.

Wm. Stoneifer, 7 years, brain fever.

Mrs. Mary McCarthy, 70 years, old age.

Wm. H. Chambell, 50 years, kidney disease.

John Trick, 66 years, gravel.

Lucy Vordermark, 2 months, spasms.

Lona Harrod, 9 years, scarlet fever.

Annie Albers, 6 years, spinal meningitis.

Mary Lam Tong, 25 years, consumption.

Catherine Loney, 40 years, dropsy.

August Heincke, 37 years, consumption.

Grace Regel, 22 years, consumption.

THE SOLDIER DEAD.

A List of the Fallen Heroes in Fort Wayne Cemeteries.

Floral tributes are ready to tenderly lay on the graves of the dead soldiers. Who can picture the scene or who can fancy patriotism. Time goes on and works its changes, but the men who fought for the Union have as warm a place in the hearts of the people as they did in the midst of battle and bloodshed.

The program for to-morrow is published on the inside, and flowers are now arranged to lay on the graves of the following people:

STATEMENT.

Report of the Re-Union Committee.

EDITOR FORT WAYNE SENTINEL:—You have asked the Reunion committee "to be fair, gentlemen." We, the committee, claim we are fair, even to forbearance. We credit your association with a disposition to be fair, but think your use of any supposed contest injurious as to the Tri-State Veterans' association's management, and fear it will inure to the detriment of the financial interests of our city in the future. For illustration: Is it well for you to publish the name of Dr. Younge as a factor in the way of preventing any public enterprise that would bring hundreds of thousands of dollars to our city? Can he run a successful reunion this or any year?

Is the statement true, written within the last ten days to parties in our city, by C. H. Brinton, of Hartford City, Ind., that "Citizens of Blackford and Wells counties, in this state, will testify that they knew Younge to have been in the Confederate army during the late war, and that he, (Brinton,) formed the acquaintance of Younge in March, 1865, in Richmond, Va., and that Younge was then a rebel?"

If this is the case, is Younge a proper person to represent any movement under the name and guise of a Union officer?

Furthermore, we of the Reunion committee have in our possession an affidavit duly attested, as follows:

STATE OF INDIANA.

}, ALLEN COUNTY,

I, John W. Younge, of Fort Wayne, Ind., do hereby swear that I will, in the future, in no manner interfere in the success or undertaking of the Tri-State Veterans' association, of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, as represented by its executive committee, consisting of Capt. Scott Swann, President; Capt. Tom Sullivan, Secretary; Capt. James Harper, Treasurer, and Capt. John Tyrrell, of Michigan, and Capt. James Hall, of Ohio. That I will not personally or otherwise, directly or indirectly, counsel, aid, abet, countenance or assist in promoting or furthering any other such association, company or undertaking; that I have tendered my resignation as adjutant general of this organization in good faith and for the purpose of removing any cause for dissensions and thereby strengthening the organization whose officers' names are set out herein as its executive committee.

(Signed) J. W. YOUNGE.

Subscribed and sworn to by J. W. Younge, before me, this 9th day of April, 1886.

CHARLES A. HAYS, J. P. (Seal.)

The committee also have the acceptance of the resignation of Younge signed by the president of the association, Gov. I. P. Gray.

We also have a receipt from Younge in payment for all supplies in his hands and services rendered to April 8.

Now as to business:

The reunion has been held in Fort Wayne for two years, August 19 to 24, inclusive. These dates, or nearly the same, are booked for this year, and are the only serviceable dates that a successful reunion can be held, for the following reasons:

First, We are under a promise to the managers of the intended militia encampment to be held at Lafayette in the fore part of August; that we will in no way run our reunion to conflict with theirs. We intend securing through them many attractions.

Second: A reunion held in the fore part of July would be a very unhealthy season of the year to take into camp militia composed of young men, or even old soldiers accustomed to camp life in open air twenty years ago. We are assured by expert physicians that camp life in July would occasion aggravated symptoms of dysentery and camp diarrhoea.

The time set for our reunion is the best time in the year, weather dry, nights warm, with no moisture.

As to the success or non-success of former reunions, with disappointment of managers, citizens, etc., is it not a fact that all public enterprises, even your fairs, are sometimes criticised.

The expenses your association have incurred preliminary to your fair are probably duplicated by the reunion committee.

Our committee are not punctilious as to date you hold your fair. In fact, if you determine to hold it one week in advance of the reunion we will work cheerfully to assist you by allowing your advertising matter to be circulated at the same time as ours and help you in any and every way in our power to make your fair a financial success.

We want both the reunion and fair to be successful. We want harmony to exist, that all the community may be satisfied and managers of both associations in sympathy.

It is an utter impossibility for us to do justice to the business community in the way of drawing the hundreds of thousands of people we anticipate from the three states—Ohio, Indiana and Michigan, in the short time allotted us at your suggestion, July 15th.

It would be impossible to advertise so much territory thoroughly. Neither could we secure the many attractions needed to satisfy this host of visitors in so short a time.

As to the implication that unless the reunion is held as early as July 15th you will not run the fair this year, we hope you do not mean it. One month intervenes between date of fair and reunion. September is the proper time to hold a fair, and as to the races, we do not think they would bring much of a throng as compared with a reunion.

We think not, and hope the alternative may not be presented. With beat wished for the success of reunion and fair, we are respectfully,

SCOTT SWANN,
JAMES HARPER,
TOM SULLIVAN.

LOCAL LINES.

Fielding Fickes, Esq., a prominent attorney of Albion, died yesterday. The interment will take place Monday.

A fifty pound package of smoking tobacco, marked "I. N. Jones & Co., Rome City," was fished out of a sewer hole near the south depot this morning.

The father and mother of John Wimenski and his little brother and sister arrived to-day from Cleveland to see the unfortunate fellow, who is but seventeen years of age and left home two weeks ago to search for work. He was going home when his feet were smashed by a Nickle Plate train yesterday.

The appraisers and assessors are all hard at work to complete their task by the first Monday in June, the time required for them to make their final reports. Appraisements made this year will stand for the next five years.

When the equalization board meets, real estate owners should see that there are no irregular assessments.

SEIZED!

Martin Irons Owes Back Rent.

The Meeting at Cleveland At Loggerheads on the State of the Order.

Natural Gas Wells are Tapped at Mansfield, Ohio, and Denver, Colorado.

IN HARD LUCK.

Martin Irons' Household Goods Seized.

SEDALIA, Mo., May 29.—Deputy Constable Wallace to-day levied upon a portion of Martin Irons' household goods to satisfy a debt of $7, due Patrick O'Connor for several months past for house rent.

THE KNIGHTS.

Their Deliberations Are Not Harmonious.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 29.—The four hour session of the general assembly of Knights of Labor this morning was devoted to the discussion of the motion made yesterday to refer the report of the executive board in relation to the order of the trades unions to the committee on the state of the order. It seems more than probable that the affair will remain unsettled.

NATURAL GAS.

Discovered at Denver With Excitement.

DENVER, Colo., May 29.—In the heart of the city yesterday oil was struck at a depth of eleven hundred feet. The indications are good for a big flow. Great excitement prevails.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, May 29.—Drilling at the natural gas well, which has been in progress for the past several weeks, resulted in the striking of a vein of gas at a depth of 1,100 feet. Considerable excitement prevails and holders of $10 shares of stock will not sell at any reasonable figures.

MARION, Ind., May 29.—The Marion Mining company has been organized here, and Philip Matter, Geo. B. Switzer, John Wigger, Wilber M. Serviss, and Robert H. Horne were chosen directors for one year. The purpose of the company is to drill for natural gas. The capital stock is $5,000, and work will be commenced at once.

COL. HILLIGAS.

The Tri-State Veteran Associations Are Rather Complicated.

Editor FORT WAYNE SENTINEL:

Sir—I see by the morning papers of your city that parties representing themselves as the executive committee of the Tri-State Veterans' association, have been instrumental in securing a meeting of the citizens of Fort Wayne with the object of holding a reunion at a future date in your city, under the name of that organization. The writer is one of the incorporators of the Tri-State Veterans' association, and holds his appointment as chairman of the executive committee of the association as provided in the articles of incorporation, and no one has authority to act for that organization in such matters except the executive committee or its adjutant general, subject to the approval of said committee.

The bond of directors of the association are Gov. Isaac P. Gray, Gov. R. A. Alger, of Michigan; Gov. J. B. Foraker, of Ohio; Generals Ben. Harrison, T. W. Bennett, T. M. Brown, M. D. Manson, J. S. Kountz, Charles S. Young and Capt. A. S. Helms. Generals W. T. Sherman, Phil Sheridan, J. A. Logan and R. Y. Oglesby with many others have accepted honorary membership in the Tri-State Veterans' association, all of which goes to establish the fact that the association was not organized for any selfish or childish purposes, but on the contrary is an organization that commands the respect of every old soldier in the three states of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana.

With these facts before the public, it can hardly be expected that the executive committee of the Tri-State Veterans' association, with articles of incorporation back of them, will sit idly by and see their rights usurped and the organization stolen bodily. We are not composed of that metal and while we will individually lend all our influence to aid soldiers' reunions, yet it can not be expected that we will surrender the organization or allow others to usurp the rights that alone belong to the committee of the Tri-State Veteran's association.

We regret the action of those who have moved in this matter and that the good people of Fort Wayne may be, in their zeal to secure a re-union, imposed upon, yet no Tri-State Veterans' re-union

It is proposed not to remove the remains of Ex-Governor Bicker from the Broadway park, but ask the legislature to appropriate enough money for a handsome monument above his grave. It is appropriate.

Commencing to-morrow the Wabash railroad will materially quicken its time schedule between St. Louis and New York and run the fastest east bound train that leaves St. Louis. Its morning train will leave St. Louis at 6:35 and arrive at the Grand Central Depot, New York, the next evening at 7:30, and its night train will leave St. Louis at 6:35, reach Toledo at 8 a.m., Buffalo 5:10 p.m., and arrive at the Grand Central Depot at 7:30 the second morning. The flyers go through Fort Wayne.

The city papers are still harping about some fellow Baron Westrum had arrested. The man was fined, but when his friends interposed judgment was suspended and the poor fellow was let go, as public opinion would not tolerate sending a man to jail because he strived to collect his wages from Westrum. Mr. Anselme Fuelber, of the Staats Zeitung, was present and informed THE SENTINEL. The less said about this case the best for parties most interested and no one need worry about the local news in THE SENTINEL as it is pretty nearly correct, clean and complete. No "scoops" are marked against us.

"Dan Haley, who was sent to the "pen" from this county for grand larceny at the January term, 1884, was released last Thursday. His sentence was for three years but he gained a few months' time by good behavior. He says that he is thoroughly reformed and that he intends to live a sober and honorable life henceforth. He is a brother to Bill Haley who is now confined in our county jail," says the Paulding Democrat.

A letter received from the Adjutant-General of the Grand Army of the Republic, Department of Indiana, states that General Tom Bennett, Department Commander, has issued no order for any post in the state to decorate soldiers' graves on Sunday. Commander Bennett states that such an order could not be granted, as it would be contrary to the constitution and by-laws of the order.

HEROES!

Decoration Day Is Observed Grandly.

General Wm. T. Sherman Marches in an Immense Procession at Chicago.

The Day is Observed at Pittsburgh and Elsewhere With Solemnity.

DECORATION DAY.

It Is Observed at Chicago—Gen. Sherman Marching.

Chicago, Ills., May 29.—General W. T. Sherman has arrived to take part in the decoration ceremonies at Rose Hill to-day. The general stated that he had decided to remove to New York.

The observance of the ceremony of decorating the graves of soldiers by veteran organizations in this city occurred to-day. The marching column was composed of the posts of the Grand Army of the Republic and was the largest ever seen on the streets of Chicago on a similar occasion. Accompanying Ransom post, of St. Louis, was General William T. Sherman, who marched in the ranks on the right of the leading four. He was quickly recognized by large waiting crowds on the streets and was wildly cheered.

General Alfred H. Terry was also one of the marchers and was cheered along the route. Governor Oglesby, accompanied by several other gentlemen, occupied the only carriage in the columns. The veterans in line numbered four thousand.

AT PITTSBURG.

PITTSBURG, May 29.—To-day was observed as Decoration Day. Business was almost entirely suspended.

SAD FATE.

A Minister and Four Children Drowned.

WOLFEBOROUGH, N. H., May 29.—Yesterday afternoon Rev. T. C. Jerome, pastor of the Congregational church, with his two sons and daughter and a young man named Davis, were drowned on the lake on a fishing excursion.

Labor News.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—The Sugar company will resume next Monday with a full force, on a compromise.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 29.—The Black Diamond steel company has voluntarily advanced the wages of all their employees ten per cent.

The Presbyterians.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 29.—The Presbyterian general assembly, last night, voted to continue the permanent committee on temperance, which has been in existence since 1885. The resignation of chairman W. T. Brown was accepted.

The Maxwell Case.

ST. LOUIS, May 29.—The defense in the Maxwell murder case read depositions taken in England, showing the defendant's good character.

The Fire Record.

MCGREGOR, Texas, May 29.—Thursday night a fire destroyed twenty business houses. Total loss $58,000; insurance, $18,000.

THE DEATHS.

THE SOLDIER DEAD.

A List of the Fallen Heroes in Fort Wayne Cemeteries.

Floral tributes are ready to tenderly lay on the graves of the dead soldiers. Who can picture the scene or who can fancy patriotism. Time goes on and works its changes, but the men who fought for the Union have as warm a place in the hearts of the people as they did in the midst of battle and bloodshed.

The program for to-morrow is published on the inside, and flowers are now arranged to lay on the graves of the following people:

STATEMENT.

Report of the Re-Union Committee.

EDITOR FORT WAYNE SENTINEL.—You have asked the Reunion committee "to be fair, gentlemen." We, the committee, claim we are fair, even to forbearance. We credit your association with a disposition to be fair, but think your use of any supposed contest injurious to the Tri-State Veterans' association's management, and fear it will injure to the detriment of the financial interests of our city in the future. For illustration: Is it well for you to publish the name of Dr. Younge as a factor in the way of preventing any public enterprise that would bring hundreds of thousands of dollars to our city? Can he run a successful reunion this or any year?

Is the statement true, written within the last ten days to parties in our city, by C. H. Brinton, of Hartford City, Ind., that "Citizens of Blackford and Wells counties, in this state, will testify that they know Younge to have been in the Confederate army during the late war, and that he, (Brinton,) formed the acquaintance of Younge in March, 1866, in Richmond, Va., and that Younge was then a soldier."

If this is the case, is Younge a proper person to represent any movement under the name and guise of a Union officer?

Furthermore, we of the Reunion committee have in our possession an affidavit only attested, as follows:

STATE OF INDIANA.]

ALLEN COUNTY, }

I, John W. Younge, of Fort Wayne,

Ind., do hereby swear that I will, in the future, in no manner interfere in the success or undertaking of the Tri-State Veterans' association, of Ohio,

Michigan and Indiana, as represented by its executive committee, consisting of Capt. Scott Swann, President;

Capt. Tom Sullivan, Secretary; Capt.

James Harper, Treasurer, and Capt.

John Tyrrell, of Michigan, and Capt.

James Hall, of Ohio. That I will not personally or otherwise, directly or indirectly, counsel, aid, abet, coun-se or assist in promoting or furthering any other such association, company or undertaking; that I have tendered my resignation as adjutant general of this organization in good faith and for the purpose of removing any cause for dissensions and thereby strengthening the organization whose officers' names are set out herein as its executive committee.

(Signed) J. W. YOUNGE.

Subscribed and sworn to by J. W.

Younge, before me, this 9th day of April, 1886.

CHARLES A. HAYS, J. P. (Seal.)

The committee also have the acceptance of the resignation of Younge signed by the president of the association, Gov.

I. P. Gray.

We also have a receipt from Younge in payment for all supplies in his hands and services rendered to April 8.

Now as to business:

The reunion has been held in Fort

Wayne for two years, August 19 to 24, inclusive. These dates, or nearly the same, are booked for this year, and are the only serviceable dates that a successful reunion can be held, for the following reasons:

First, We are under a promise to the managers of the intended militia encampment to be held at Lafayette in the fore part of August; that we will in no way run our reunion to conflict with theirs. We intend securing through them many attractions.

Second: A reunion held in the fore part of July would be a very unhealthy season of the year to take into camp militia composed of young men, or even old soldiers accustomed to camp life in open air twenty years ago. We are assured by expert physicians that camp life in July would occasion aggravated symptoms of dysentery and camp diarrhea.

The time set for our re-union is the best time in the year, weather dry, nights warm, with no moisture.

As to the success or non-success of for reunions, with disappointment of managers, citizens, etc., is it not a fact that all public enterprises, even your fair, are sometimes criticized.

The expenses your association have incurred preliminary to your fair are probably duplicated by the reunion committee.

Our committee are not punctilious as to date you hold your fair. In fact, if you determine to hold it one week in advance of the reunion we will work cheerfully

to assist you by allowing your advertising matter to be circulated at the same time as ours and help you in any and every way in our power to make your fair a financial success.

We want both the reunion and fair to be successful. We want harmony to exist, that all the community may be satisfied and managers of both associations in sympathy.

It is an utter impossibility for us to do justice to the business community in the way of drawing the hundreds of thousands of people we anticipate from the three states Ohio, Indiana and Michigan, in the short time allotted us by your suggestion, July 15th.

It would be impossible to advertise so much territory thoroughly. Neither could we secure the many attractions needed to satisfy this host of visitors in so short a time.

As to the implication that unless the reunion is held as early as July 15th you will not run the fair this year, we do not make that claim. One month intervening between date of fair and reunion is not uncommon.

As to the date of the

STRONG STATEMENTS.

Rev. S. H. Troyer, of New Albany, Ind., states as follows how he saved himself from an attack which threatened serious results:

"On the 7th of June, 1884, I was taken with rheumatic fever, and for five weeks was not free from it. It then settled in my left foot, where it remained for about four weeks. Then it moved to my hips, shoulders, neck and collar bone, where it stayed until driven out by Athiophorus. Previous to the use of that remedy I had tried the skill of five physicians, from whom I obtained no relief. Then I resorted to the use of different remedies external and internal, but I continued to grow worse all the time until the 1st of October, when my druggist recommended Athiophorus. I had but little faith when I took the first bottle. At this time I was so helpless that my wife had to dress me, wash my face and assist me out of bed. I could not sleep more than from thirty to forty-five minutes at a time, so intense was my pain."

"My first dose of Athiophorus was taken at two o'clock in the afternoon, and I took two more soon after. The first dose gave me much relief, and the second eased me so greatly that I was enabled to talk freely and with comfort to my family and friends. The third dose enabled me to sleep four and a half hours without waking. I continued the use of Athiophorus until fourteen bottles in all had been taken. By this time my health was so much improved that I left off the medicine. That was in December, 1884, and I am now quite well."

Rev. Wm. Coul, of Denver, Ind., says: "I used only one bottle of Athiophorus, and I think it a good medicine. I consider that I derived much benefit from it."

"Athiophorus," says Mr. D. P. Sheets, of Mooreville, Ind., "gave me great satisfaction in a case of neuralgia, and I can heartily recommend it to others as doing all that is claimed for it."

Mr. J. A. Wilson, the photographer of New Albany, Ind., whose offices are at Nos. 6 and 8 Main street, tells of one of these cases. His story follows:

"I had rheumatism but it disappeared after using only one bottle of Athiophorus. It was in my arms and I had sharp, shooting pains. I was suffering and complaining a good deal when a friend, coming into my gallery one morning, asked me what the trouble was. I said it was rheumatism. He told me of Athiophorus as a cure for neuralgia and rheumatism, and it struck me very forcibly, as it did not claim to cure every complaint that flesh is heir to. I bought a bottle on the strength of what he said. That was all I needed. I used the one bottle over six months ago, and have not had one ache or pain from rheumatism since."

Mr. Hiram F. Sides, of Fort Branch, Ind., says of his wife's cure:

"Her suffering from neuralgia was intense, and we concluded to try Athiophorus. Almost from the first dose I could see that she was improving, and two bottles effected a permanent cure, so that she feels no effects of her once dreaded disease. I tried it for rheumatism and soon found relief, one bottle curing me. I shall take great pleasure in recommending Athiophorus to my neighbors."

If you cannot get ATHIOPHORUS of your druggist, write us for express price on receipt of regular price—send us a post card and we prefer that you buy it from our druggists, but if you can't do not be perturbed to try something else, but order at once from us as directed. Lands are to be sold at Public Auction. The "Trustees of the Estate of Jay Gould & Co." in Brooklyn, will offer for sale to the highest bidder 33,000 acres of valuable lands, yet remaining. The real estate must be disposed of immediately so as to act with creditors. Such an opportunity is rarely offered for a safe and paying investment. Sale takes place at the Chicago Real Estate Board, Room 5, 1st LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill., Wednesday, May 22, at 12 noon. Cash trust will guarantee. Address, T. Barney & Co., 27 Tribune Building, Chicago, Ill., or to James O. Young, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

There are a few druggists who care more to make a large profit on a worthless article than to write for its propriety that ultimately results from honest advertising. These are the men who when asked for a Bonson's Capsule Plaster, will recommend some cheap and trashy substitute or imitation, saying it's "just as good." Sometimes they will do up and sell this miserable imitation with a red seal, allowing the customer to suppose he has a genuine article. This is a mistake; if not, he has done a good stroke at business. The public are entreated against John and all his ilk. Buy of respectable druggists only. The genuine Bonson's plaster has the "Three Goals" trade mark and the word "Capitol" cut in the centre. It's a

TALMAGE'S LABOR SERMON.

The Second of the Series, the Subject Being "How Employers Should Treat Employees."

He Cautions Both of Them Against Excesses.

For his second sermon on the great labor question, Dr. Talmage chose two texts, the first from Galatians v., 15: "If ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another;" and Philippians ii., 4: "Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others." Following is the sermon in full:

The labor agitation will soon quiet. The mills will again open, the railroads resume their traffic, our national prosperity again start. Of course the damage done by the strikes cannot immediately be repaired. Wages will not be so high as they were. Specifically they may be higher, but will drop lower. Strikes, whether right or wrong, always injure laborers more than the capitalists. You will see this in the starvation next winter. Boycotting and violence and murder never pay. They inflict stages of anarchy. God never blessed murder. The worse uses you can put a man to is to kill him. Blow up tomorrow all the country seats on the banks of the Hudson, and all the fine houses on Madison Square, and Brooklyn Heights, and Bunker Hill, and Rittenhouse Square, and Beacon Street, and all the bricks and timber and stones will just fall back on the bare hands of American labor. The worst enemies of the working classes in the United States and Ireland are their demented coadjutors. Assassination—the assassinations of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke in Phoenix Park, Dublin, Ireland, in the attempt to avenge the wrongs of Ireland, only turned away from afflicted people millions of sympathizers. The attempts to blow up the House of Commons in London had only this effect—to throw out of employment tens of thousands of innocent Irish people in England. In this country the torch put to the factories that have discharged hands for goods or bad reason, obstructions on the rail-tracks in front of midnight express trains, because the offenders do not like the president of the company; strikes on shipboard the hour they were going to sail, or in printing offices the hour the paper was to go to press, or in the mines the day the coal was to be delivered, or on house scaffoldings so the builder fails in keeping his contract—all these are only a hard blow on the head of American labor, and cripple its arms and lame its feet, and pierce its heart. Trap sprung suddenly upon employers and violence, never look one knot out of the knuckles of toil or put one furlong of wages into a callous palm. Barbarism will never cure the wrongs of civilization. Mark that!

Frederick the Great admired some land near his palace at Potsdam, and he resolved to get it. It was owned by a miller. He offered the miller three times the value of the property. The miller would not take it because it was the old homestead, and he felt about it as Nebuchadnezzar felt about his vineyard when Alabam wanted it. Frederick the Great was a rough and terrible man, and he ordered the miller into his presence, and the King with a stick in his hand—a stick with which he sometimes struck the officers of State—said to the miller: "Now, I have offered you three times the value of that property, and if you won't sell it I'll take it anyhow." The miller said: "Your Majesty, you won't?" "Yes," said the King, "I will take it." "Then," said the miller, "if your Majesty does take it I will sue you in the Chancery Court." At that threat Frederick the Great yielded his infamous demand. And the most impious outrage against the working classes will yet come before the law. Violence and contrary to the law will never accomplish anything, but righteousness and according to the law will accomplish it.

But gradually the damages done the labor by the strikes will be repaired, and some important things ought now to be said.

The whole tendency of our times, as you have noticed, is to make the class between employer and employee wider and wider. In olden time the head man of the factory, the master builder, the capitalist, and the head man of the firm worked side by side with their employees,—working sometimes at the same bench, dining at the same table—and there are those here who can remember the time when the clerks of large commercial houses were accustomed to board with the head man of the firm.

All this is changed, and the tendency is to make the distance between employer and employee wider and wider. The tendency is to make the employee feel that he is wronged by the success of the capitalist, and to make the capitalist feel: "Now, my laborers are only beasts of burden; I must give so much money for so much drudgery, just so many pieces of silver for so many heads of sweat." In other words, the bridge of sympathy is broken down at both ends. That feeling was well described by Thomas Carlyle when he said: "Plungon, St. Dolly, Undershirt, Bucannet-like, says to his men: 'Noble spinners, this is the breadth thousand we have gained, wherein I mean to dwell and plant my vineyards. The hundred thousand pound is mine, the daily wage was yours. Adieu, noble spinners; drink my health with this glass; each which I give you over and above.'

Now, what we want is to rebuild that bridge of sympathy, and I put the trowel to one of the abutments to-day; and I preach more especially this morning to employers as such, although what I have to say will be appropriate to all who are in the house.

The outrageous behavior of a multitude of laborers toward their employers during the last three months, behavior infamous and worthy of the most condign punishment, may have induced some employers to neglect some of the real Christian duties that they owe to those whom they employ. Therefore I want to say to you whom I confront face to face, and those to whom these words only come that all ship-owners, all capitalists, all commercial firms, all master-builders, all housewives, are bound to be interested in the entire welfare of their subordinates. Years ago someone gave three prescriptions for becoming a millionaire. First, spend your life in getting and keeping the earnings of other people, especially, have no anxiety about the worthiness, the losses, the disappointments of others; thirdly, do not mind the fact that your vast wealth implies the poverty of a great many people. Now, there is not a man in my audience who would consent to go out into life with these three principles, to earn a fortune. It is your desire to do your whole duty to the men and women in your service.

First of all, then, pay as large wages as are reasonable, and as your business will afford. Not necessarily what others pay, certainly not what your hired help say you may pay, for that is tyranny on the part of labor unbearable. The right of a laborer to tell his employer what he must pay implies the right of an employer to compel a man into a service, whether he will or not, and either of those ideas is despicable.

When any employer allows a laborer to say what he must do or have his business ruined, and the employer submits to it, he does every business man in the United States a wrong, and yields to a principle which, carried out, would dissolve society. Look upon your affairs and put yourself in imagination in your laborer's place, and then pay him what before God and in your own conscience you think you ought to pay him.

"God bless you's" are well in their place, but they do not buy coal nor pay house rent, nor get shoes for the children. At the same time, you, the employer, ought to remember through what strains and strains you got the fortune by which you built your store or run the factory. You are to remember that you take all the risks, and the employee takes none, or scarcely any. You are to remember that there may be reversal in fortune, and that some new kind of machinery may make your machinery valuable, or some new style of tariff will set your business back hopelessly and forever. You must take all that into consideration, and then pay what is reasonable.

Do not be too ready to eat down wages. As far as possible, pay all you promptly. There is a great deal of Biblical teaching on this subject. Malachi: "I will be a swift witness against all wrongdoers, and against all adulterers, and against those who oppress the hiring out in his wages." Leviticus: "Thou shalt not keep the wages of the hireling all night unto the morning." Colossians: "Masters, give unto your servants that which is just and equal; knowing that you also have a Master in heaven." So you see it is not in question whether you and your employee so much as it is a question between you and God.

Do not say to your employees: "Now, if you don't like this place get out," when you know they cannot get another. As far as possible once a year visit at their homes your clerks and your workmen. That is the only way you can become acquainted with their wants. You will by such process find out that there is a blind parent or a sick sister being supported. You will find some of your young men in rooms without any fire in winter, and in summer sweltering in ill-ventilated apartments. You will find how much depends on the wages you pay or withhold. On Saturday morning, when you come into your counting-room and draw the check which will draw the money for the wages or salaries, you will have a thrill of satisfaction in knowing it is not only the money you give to the young man, but the relief to the dire necessities which stand back of him.

Moreover, it is your duty, as an employer, as far as possible, to mold the welfare of the employee. You ought to advise him about investments, about life insurance, about savings banks. You ought to give him the benefit of your experience. There are hundreds and thousands of employers in this country and England, I am glad to say, who are settling in the very best possible way the destiny of the employee. Such men as Marshall, of Leeds; Lister, of Bradford; M'royd, of Halifax; and men near to home it might offend their modesty if I mentioned their names. These men have built reading-rooms, libraries, concert halls, afforded croquet lawns, cricket-grounds, gymnasiums, elbow societies for their employees, and they have not merely paid the wages on Saturday night, but through the contentment and the drift and the good works of their employees, they are paying wages from generation to generation for posterity.

Again, I counsel all employers to look well after the physical health of their subordinates. You are expected to understand better than they all these questions of ventilation and sunshine, and all the laws of hygiene. There are stores and banking-houses and newspaper establishments where the atmosphere is death. Your employees may not always appreciate your work, as that style of kindness was not appreciated in the instances mentioned by Charles Reade, when a great factory a fan was provided for the blowing away of the dust of metal and stone, the dust arising from the machinery, and some of the workmen refused to put this great fan in motion. They seemed to prefer to inhale the fumes, the noxious fumes, into their lungs. But in the vast majority of cases your employees will appreciate every kindness in that direction.

Do not put on them any unnecessary fatigue. I never could understand why the drivers on our city cars must stand all day when they might just as well sit down and drive. It seems to me most unrighteous that so many of the female clerks in our stores should be compelled to stand all day, and through those hours when there are few or no customers. These people have adornments and amanuenses and weaknesses enough without putting upon them additional fatigue. Unless those female clerks were, and though they may be 60 or 70 years of age, they know just how a boy feels between 20 and 30. They have not forgotten it. Those wealthy employers were not originally laid down out of heaven with pulleys of silk in a wicker basket, satin-lined, fanned by cherub wings. They started in roughest cradle, on whose rocker misfortunes bid a violent foot and tipped them into the cold world. Those old men are sympathetic with boys.

But you are not only to be kind to those who are under you—Christianly kind—you are also to see that your boss workmen and your head clerks and your agents and your overseers in stores are kind to those under them. Sometimes a man will get a little brief authority in a store or in a factory, and while they are very courteous to you, the capitalist, or to you, the head man of the firm, they are most brutal in their treatment of those under them. God only knows what some of the lads suffer in the collars and in the lofts of some of our great establishments. They have no one to appeal to. The time will come when their arms will be strong, and they can defend themselves, but not now. Alas! for some of the cash-boys, and the messenger-boys, and the boys that sweep the store. Alas! for some of them! Now, you capitalist, you the head man of the firm, must look, supervise, see those all around you, investigate all beneath you.

And then I charge you not to put unnecessary temptation in the way of your young men. Do not keep large sums of money lying around unguarded. Know how much money there is in the till. Do not have the account-book loosely kept. There are temptations inevitable to young men, and enough of them without putting upon them any unnecessary temptation in their way. Men in Wall street having thirty years of reputation for honesty have dropped into King Sing and perdition, and you must be careful how you try a lad of 15. And if he do wrong do not pounce on him like a tyro. If he prove himself unworthy of your confidence do not cast him in the police, but take him home, tell why you dismissed him to those who will give him another chance. Many a young man has done wrong once who will never do wrong again.

At my friends, I think we can afford to give everybody another chance, when God knows we should all have been in perdition had he not given us ten thousand chances.

Then I would have you carry out this sanitary idea, and put into as few hours as possible the work of the day. Some time ago whether it has been changed I know not—there were 1,000 grocer clerks in Brooklyn who went to business at 6 o'clock in the morning and continued until 10 o'clock at night. Now, that is inhuman.

It seems to me that all the merchants in all the departments ought, by simultaneous movement, to come out in behalf of the early closing theory. These young men ought to have an opportunity of going to the Mercantile Library, to the reading-rooms, to the concert hall, to the gymnasium, to the church. They have nerves, they have brains, they have intellectual aspirations, they have immortal spirits. If they can do a good round day's work in the ten or eleven hours, you have no right to keep them harassed for seventeen.

I do not think that any intelligent employer can afford to be reckless of the physical and mental health of his subordinates.

But, above all, I charge you, O employer! that you look after the moral and spiritual welfare of your employees. First, know where they spend their evenings. That decides everything. You do not want round your money drawer a young man who went last night to see Jack Sheppard.

A man that comes into the store in the morning glances with midnight rovers is not the man for your store. The young man who spends his evenings in the society of refined women, or in musical or artistic circles, or in literary improvement, in the young man for your store. Without any disgusting inquisitiveness, without any infatuation, you ought to have your young men understand that you are interested so much in their welfare that you want to know where they spend their leisure hours, and they will frankly and gladly tell you.

Do not say of these young men: "If they do their work in the business hours, that is all I have to ask." God has made you man's guardian. I want you to understand that many of these young men are orphans, or worse than orphans, living in society stricken for themselves. A young man is pitched into the middle of the Atlantic Ocean, and a plank is pitched after him, and then he is told to take that and swim ashore. Trust that young man as you would like to have your son treated if you were dead. Be a father to that clerk. There is nothing more beautiful than to hear an aged merchant addressing his clerks and saying: "My son!" That young man in your employ has a history. His father was a drunkard. His first remembrance of his father was the father coming home late at night intoxicated and the children hiding under the bed frightened. And that young man has stood many a time between father and mother keeping her from the brutal blow. He is prematurely old in trying to provide for his house rent and clothing for his younger brothers and sisters. He may seem to you like all the other young men, but God and his mother know he is a hero. At 21 years of age he has suffered as much as many have suffered at 60. Do not tread on him. Do not swear at him. Do not send him on a useless errand. Say, "Good morning, and 'Good night,' and 'Good-by.' You are deciding that man's destiny for two worlds.

One of my earliest remembrances is of old Arthur Tappan. There were many differences of opinion about his politics, but no one who ever knew Arthur Tappan, and knew him well, doubted his being a earnest Christian. In his store in New York he had a room where every morning he called his employees together, and he prayed with them, read the Scriptures to them, sang with them, and then they entered on the duties of the day. On Monday morning the exercises differed, and he gathered the young men together and asked them where they had attended church, what had been their Sabbath experiences, and what had been the sermon.

Somuel Budgett had the largest business in the west of England. He had in a room of his warehouse a place pleasantly furnished with comfortable seats, and "Fletcher's Family Devotions" and Wesleyan hymn-books, and he gathered his employees together every morning, and, having sung, they kneeled down and prayed side by side—the employer and the employee.

You do wonder at the man's success, and that though thirty years before he had been a partner in a small retail shop in a small village, at his death he bequeathed many millions. God can trust such a man as that with plenty of money.

Sir Titus Salt had wealth which was beyond computation, and at Saltire, England, he had a church and a chapel built and supported by himself—the church for those who preferred the Episcopal service, and the chapel for those who preferred the Methodist service. At the opening of one of his factories he gave a great dinner, and there were thirty-five hundred people present, and in his after-dinner speech he said to these people gathered: "I cannot look around me and see this vast assemblage of friends and workpeople without being moved. I feel greatly honored by the presence of the nobleman at my side, and I am especially delighted at the presence of my workpeople. I hope to draw around me a population that will enjoy the beauties of this neighborhood—a population of well-paid, contented, happy operatives. I have given instructions to my architects that nothing is to be spared to render the dwellings of the operatives a pattern to the country, and if my life is spared by Divine Providence I hope to see the happiness of these people from generation to generation."

That is Christian character demonstrated. There are others in this country and in other lands on a smaller scale doing their best for their employees. They have not forgotten their own early struggles. They remember the first yard of merchandise they measured, the first quarter of tea they weighed, the first basket they turned, the first roof they shingled. They remember how they were discouraged, how hungry they were, how cold and how tired they were, and though they may be 60 or 70 years of age, they know just how a boy feels between 20 and 30. They have not forgotten it. Those wealthy employers were not originally laid down out of heaven with pulleys of silk in a wicker basket, satin-lined, fanned by cherub wings. They started in roughest cradle, on whose rocker misfortunes bid a violent foot and tipped them into the cold world. Those old men are sympathetic with boys.

COL. R. S. ROBERTSON.

His Lecture "From the Wilderness to Spottsylvania."

"On Saturday evening of last week our citizens were seen wending their way to the Christian church to listen to the address of Col. R. S. Robertson, of Fort Wayne, in his vivid description of that bloody battle of the Wilderness. His lecture was entitled "From the Wilderness to Spottsylvania," and during the entire time of its delivery the audience was held spell bound by the speaker.

M. E. Argot acted as chairman, introducing Mr. Robertson. Prof. Walker and wife, Rev. J. R. McConkey, Mrs.

Congleton and Mrs. Dr. Brown furnished

the music, and while they sang the song entitled, "The Flag Without a Stain,"

you might have heard a pin drop, so entranced was the entire assembly. After the lecture the walls of the church were were ring with that good, old national hymn,

DISCONTENT IN THE DOMINION.

The British subjects north of the lakes and the St. Lawrence are not satisfied with the present, or the prospect for the future. The feeling between the English and French Canadians becomes more bitter as time passes by. Taxation is very heavy, and yet the finances of the Dominion are in a very discouraging state. The deficit last year was over $2,000,000, and it will be even greater this year. Although the population is only 1,000,000 greater than in 1867, the year of the confederation, the debt has grown from $38,000,000 to $292,000,000, while the taxation has more than doubled. Since the civil war the United States has reduced its debt from $80 to $28 per head; the Canadian debt during the same sumo has increased from $30 to $70 per head. The Dominion has a large foreign emigration, but the United States soon proves more attractive to the new arrivals than does British America. Then the native emigration from Canada to the United States is getting larger every year. In some of the manufacturing towns of New England the working men are mainly from the north of the St. Lawrence. Under these circumstances, many Canadians secretly desire the consolidation of the two countries. It would be in every way a benefit both to the people of the Dominion and the United States. There is a vexatious tariff interfering with the trade of both countries, and disputes about fisheries which annexation would set at rest forever. The Canadians realize that should a war break out between the United States and Great Britain, the soil of the Dominion would be the seat of hostilities. It seems a pity, with everything to favor annexation, that there is no practical way of bringing it about. Democracy.
